

NATIONAL ACCLAIM FOR
THE DEATH OF AMERICA VIRTUE

"[Goes] beyond the sordid details [to] provide helpful context for the larger story, the fractionalization of American politics...offers a relief from the familiar overheated chronicles."

—New York Times Book Review (Editor's Choice)

"Scrupulously even-handed and exhaustively reported."

—Wall Street Journal

"Superb."

—Minneapolis-St. Paul Star Tribune

"Succeeds, splendidly, in humanizing a Dickensian cast of characters."

—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette

"Heroic even-handedness."

—Washington Post Book World

KEN GORMLEY, newly appointed dean of the Duquesne University School of Law, joined the faculty in 1994 after clerking for U.S. District Judge Donald E. Ziegler; teaching at the University of Pittsburgh School of Law; engaging in private practice; serving as executive director of the Pennsylvania Legislative Reapportionment Commission; and serving as special clerk to Justice Ralph J. Cappy of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court. He earned his B.A. from the University of Pittsburgh and his J.D. from Harvard Law School.

Gormley is the author of Archibald Cox: Conscience of a Nation (Perseus Books, 1997), the authorized biography of one of the leading lawyers and public servants of modern times. He has published dozens of book chapters and scholarly articles, including pieces in the Stanford Law Review and Michigan Law Review. Gormley has written features and opinion pieces for newspapers across the nation; testified before the United States Senate; appeared on national TV and radio as a legal commentator; and has lectured at prestigious venues including the Aspen Institute, the Chautauqua Institution, Harvard University, Stanford University, the John F. Kennedy Presidential Library, and the University of Arkansas Clinton School of Public Service.

Gormley recently was awarded the 2010 Bruce K. Gould Award for outstanding publication related to the law, an award he also received in 1999.

THE DEATH OF AMERICAN VIRTUE

CLINTON VS. STARR

KEN GORMLEY

Duquesne University announces new book by School of Law Dean
BOOK SIGNING ■ TUESDAY, MAY 18, 2010

TEN YEARS AFTER the most polarizing political scandal in American history, author Ken Gormley provides a definitive, balanced, and riveting account of the wide-ranging investigation of President William Jefferson Clinton that divided the nation and nearly toppled Clinton's presidency. From special prosecutor Kenneth W. Starr's initial probe of the Whitewater land deal in Arkansas to the Paula Jones sexual harassment suit to the Monica Lewinsky affair, culminating in a dramatic Senate impeachment trial, The Death of American Virtue is a gripping account of an ever escalating political feeding frenzy.

In exclusive interviews, President Clinton, Ken Starr, Monica Lewinsky and her family, Linda Tripp, Paula Jones and her lawyers, Susan McDougal, and many other key players offer candid reflections on an episode that elicited feelings of revulsion and fascination among the nation's citizens. Drawing on never-before released material, Gormley illuminates this dark and divisive battle with an authority and wealth of detail that has never before been achieved. This ambitious book, skillfully told with a literary flair, is destined to become a classic account of an epic drama in the nation's political history.

FOR MORE INFORMATION on Gormley's book, please contact:
Jeanine DeBor, Law Alumni Director • 412.396.5215 or lawalumni@duq.edu

PLEASE JOIN
the Duquesne Law Community
as we celebrate this publication at a book signing event on

TUESDAY, MAY 18, 2010

4-7 p.m.

DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY POWER CENTER BALLROOM

Book Talk with Ken Gormley

moderated by

WASHINGTON POST
SYNDICATED COLUMNIST

E. J. DIONNE

who covered the Clinton-Starr controversy

Reception with beverages & hors d'oeuvres

RSVP by calling 412.396.5131 or e-mailing universityevents@duq.edu

*Ken Gormley has received national recognition for Death of American Virtue.
He has been interviewed by the NBC Today Show, NPR-Fresh Air, Fox & Friends, the Charlie Rose Show, MSNBC Morning Joe and Hardball with Chris Matthews.*