Admission criteria vary for degree programs administered through the University's undergraduate Schools. Degree seeking applicants are advised to consult with an academic advisor regarding admission criteria specific to individual Schools. Admission to Duquesne University through the School of Leadership and Professional Advancement is granted to degree seeking applicants based upon their likelihood of meeting degree admission criteria; it is not intended to guarantee admission to any specific degree program. It is the policy of Duquesne University to admit those applicants who are best qualified to profit from the opportunities offered for intellectual, spiritual and social growth. It does not discriminate on the basis of religious preference, sex, race, color, national or ethnic origin, non-performance related handicap or veteran's status in the administration of its policies. Continuance upon the rolls of the University is subject to the disciplinary authority of the University
