

A HIDDEN WHOLENESS

The Zen Photography of Thomas Merton

PHOTOGRAPHS BY
the renowned Trappist monk, author, contemplative, and advocate for social justice and peace.

September 16 – November 8, 2019

DUQUESNE UNIVERSITY | GUMBERG LIBRARY

ALL EVENTS FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

■ Beholding Paradise: Merton's Encounter with Photography and Zen

Public Talk by Dr. Paul Pearson, Director, Thomas Merton Center of Bellarmine University

Sept. 18, 6:00 p.m.

Gumberg Library, Simon Silverman Phenomenology Center

■ Seeing Which Is Being Which Is Acting

Public Talk by Bruce Soun Harris Rōshi, Zen Teacher & Artist

Nov. 7, 6:00 p.m.

Gumberg Library, Simon Silverman Phenomenology Center

This exhibition and the public talks were made possible by generous support from an anonymous donor, the National Endowment for the Humanities, Duquesne's McAnulty College and Graduate School of Liberal Arts, Gumberg Library and the Simon Silverman Phenomenology Center. The photograph by Thomas Merton, and the photograph of Thomas Merton by John Howard Griffin, are both used with permission.

FOR MORE INFORMATION, CONTACT
Will W. Adams, Ph.D., Department of Psychology, Duquesne University, at adamsw@duq.edu

