RISING AND THRIVING: HEALTHY ANTI-RACIST ACTIVISM FOR 2020 AND BEYOND

10:00-11:30 a.m.
Who Cares for the Activist? Tending to our Collective Wounds
This dynamic workshop brings communal and organizational approaches to the personal impacts of activist work.

1:00-2:30 p.m.
Keynote Address: Eboni Marshall Turman, Ph.D.
Anti-Racist Activisms at the Intersection: When Race and Gender Collide
Author of Toward a Womanist Ethic of Incarnation, Dr. Turman teaches constructive theology, ethics, and African American religion at Yale University Divinity School.
Preceded by lunch at 12:30

3:00-4:15 p.m.
Social Justice Reading Club: The Hate U Give
Come join a discussion of this powerful bestseller. Copies of the book and DVD are available in Gumberg Library.

3:00-4:30 p.m.
Race and Pedagogy: A Discussion of Readings
How do race, teaching, and learning intersect at a predominantly white university? Faculty and graduate students are invited to register and download readings to discuss. See website for details.

4:00-5:00 p.m.
1Hood Media: Art, Activism, Technology, and the Evolution of Social Justice Movements
Take part in a high-energy workshop and experience how art, media, and technology incite social change.

5:00-7:00 p.m.
Food and Beverages provided

9:00 p.m.
Sacred Conversations on Race
Undergraduate students only: connect with fellow students in a safe environment to openly share experiences and ideas on identity, prejudice and systematic racism.

Thanks to this year’s sponsors: Bayer School of Natural and Environmental Sciences, Center for African Studies, Center for Catholic Faith and Culture, Center for Student Wellbeing, Center for Teaching Excellence, Critical Race Speaker Series, Graduate and Professional Student Council, Gumberg Library, Honors College, Office of Diversity and Inclusion, Rangos School of Health Sciences, School of Business, School of Education, School of Music, Simon Silverman Center, The Spiritans, Women in STEM, and the Departments of Biological Sciences, Chemistry and Biochemistry, English, History, Political Science, Psychology, and Theology.

Throughout the day, please visit our activism tables in the Power Center lobby. The League of Women Voters will be registering voters, and student, staff, and faculty helpers will be present to assist you in writing postcards to your local and federal officials so that you can voice your concerns about racial injustice.

A Day for Learning and Speaking Out is an annual event for the entire Duquesne University community. The keynote address and the 1Hood media workshop are also open to the public. Advance registration is requested at http://duq.edu/DLSO.