The Tenth Annual McGinley–Rice Symposium on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations

The FACE of the Person Who is HOMELESS

October 17-18, 2019

Charles J. Dougherty Ballroom • Power Center • Pittsburgh, PA
The Tenth Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium

Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations:
The Face of the Person Who is Homeless

The McGinley-Rice Symposium proudly celebrates its tenth anniversary! Established as a national forum on social justice for vulnerable populations, The McGinley-Rice symposia are an integral part of Fall on the Bluff where Duquesne University’s School of Nursing is home to McGinley-Rice. Designed to raise awareness and advance knowledge about the prevention and treatment of problems that rob people of human dignity and self-respect, the McGinley-Rice Symposia focus the lens of social justice on compelling social and health-related issues. To celebrate the symposium’s decanal year, we have chosen homelessness as the theme of McGinley-Rice 10.

The Face of the Person Who is Homeless will enable participants to experience the rootlessness, lack of trust and isolation visible in the Face of the Person Who is Homeless. Speakers and participants will dialogue about people likely to find themselves on the streets or in shelters, highlighting national and regional efforts to raise awareness, as they share strategies to prevent and end homelessness. Looking beyond the numbers in the Annual Homeless Count, participants will explore the complex factors that bring about homelessness. They will know why many veterans are “rough sleepers,” and why some mothers raise their children in shelters and cars.

In its most recent report (December 2018), the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) reported that 553,000 people were homeless on the February 2018 night when homeless persons were counted. They noted that for the second year in a row homelessness increased by 0.3%. The number of “unsheltered homeless” increased by 3% from 2017-2018; unsheltered homelessness costs tax payers approximately $36,000 a year. The report notes that African Americans are consistently over represented among the homeless, making up 40% of the homeless population. The prevention and elimination of homelessness require compassion, support, information, collaboration, action to restore mental and physical health, safe housing and treatment of addictions.

The Eleventh Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium

The McGinley-Rice Symposium

The annual McGinley-Rice Symposium, sponsored by the Duquesne University School of Nursing, provides a national forum where scholars, researchers, policy makers, teachers and health care professionals can share ideas for alleviating disparities in health, wellness and access to health care services. The School of Nursing hosts this national forum on health care issues, using the tradition of Catholic social thought as a unifying principle.

Duquesne University is an ideal place for a symposium on social justice and health care. Duquesne was founded in 1878 by the Congregation of the Holy Spirit, the Spiritans, a Catholic missionary order that assists needy and marginalized persons throughout the world. The McGinley-Rice Symposia on Justice for Vulnerable Populations are endowed by the generous support of the Rita M. McGinley Foundation, John R. McGinley and the John R. McGinley, Jr., Esq. family. For more information about this and previous McGinley-Rice Symposiums, visit duq.edu/social-justice.

Rita M. McGinley, Educator and Philanthropist (1918-2013)

Rita M. McGinley, a Pittsburgh native, was born and raised in the Mon Valley. A graduate of Carlow and Duquesne Universities, she spent her life as a teacher and guidance counselor in her hometown.

During her tenure, her alma mater, Braddock High School, became General Braddock High School and then Woodland Hills High School. These name changes were metaphors for what happened in Braddock during Rita McGinley’s lifetime. What distinguished Rita McGinley from many of her neighbors was that she did not leave town. She stood with the young people of Braddock as powerful people ignored the region’s shuttered mills, boarded-up storefronts and emerging social problems. She provided leadership, inspiration and funding for numerous charities, organizations and projects in her beloved community and in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Her gentle influence is profound and long-lasting. The endowment of the McGinley-Rice Symposia on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations at the Duquesne School of Nursing is a living testament to her encouragement of nurses, teachers, social workers, physicians and advocates in their work with underserved and forgotten people.
Msgr. Charles Owen Rice, Friend of the Poor

If you lived in Pittsburgh from the 1930s through the 1980s, you know the name Charles Owen Rice. Msgr. Charles Owen Rice is remembered as a union advocate, the chairman of Pittsburgh’s Rent Control Board, a popular columnist for the Pittsburgh Catholic, and a familiar voice on radio stations KQV and WWSW.

He fought for justice in the Mon Valley, the Hill District and Natrona Heights. However, his passion transcended geography. He was as concerned about the spread of Communism in Europe as he was when Communist-affiliated labor leaders tried to take over the electricians’ union in the Mon Valley.

As pastor of Holy Rosary Church in Homewood, he witnessed the rioting, looting and burning that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Confronted by outraged whites and black militants, he could do little to bring the opposing sides together. There was no middle ground.

A 1930 graduate of Duquesne University, Charles Owen Rice was compassionate, combative, intelligent, loyal and witty. His biographers struggle to describe his ability to walk on the edge of religious and secular canons. He was not a simple Catholic pastor. Engaged for more than half a century in a spectrum of work on behalf of justice, he was a tactician whose words inspired others. Even those who disagreed with his positions or actions acknowledged the sincerity of his beliefs and the depth of his effort.

The Jacques Laval Endowed Chair for Justice for Vulnerable Populations

Rosemary Donley, S.C., PhD, APRN-BC, FAAN

Addressing social injustice is a key aspect of Duquesne University’s heritage and character. The commitment to helping those most in need is being advanced through the efforts of Sr. Rosemary Donley, holder of the Jacques Laval Endowed Chair for Justice for Vulnerable Populations.

In addition to teaching and conducting research related to health care access and quality for underserved persons and communities, Sr. Donley is the principal organizer of the McGinley-Rice Symposium.

The Laval Chair is endowed through a bequest from the estate of the late Thomas F. Bogovich, a 1953 Duquesne University School of Business graduate.

The Laval Chair is named for Jacques Laval, a 17th century missionary, physician and member of the Congregation of the Holy Spirit. He worked among freed slaves on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius, where he was able to restore a sense of dignity to people who had been freed but not liberated.

This first endowed chair in the School of Nursing calls attention to the faculty’s identification with Duquesne's Spiritan mission and the social justice tradition of the Catholic Church.

The Eleventh Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium: The Face of the Person Who Is Hungry

October 2020
CAITLIN COCILIOVA
Staff Attorney | Washington Legal Clinic for the Homeless, Washington, DC

Caitlin Cocilova, an attorney and organizer in Washington, DC, currently works at the Washington Legal Clinic for the Homeless, an organization that envisions a just and inclusive community for all residents of the District of Columbia, where housing is a human right and where every individual and family has equal access to the resources they need to thrive.

At the Legal Clinic, Caitlin works closely with community members and organizers to analyze and deconstruct how local land use and city planning decisions impact housing and homelessness. These efforts involve testifying at hearings, coordinating strategy sessions, conducting community outreach, supporting ongoing tenant and housing struggles, and ultimately building collective power to prevent the displacement of more residents. Caitlin represents families and individuals who are unlawfully denied access to or terminated from shelter, in addition to assisting clients with housing vouchers and discrimination cases.

Prior to joining the Legal Clinic, Caitlin held a Pennsylvania Legal Aid Network Fellowship at the workers’ and immigrants’ rights organization Friends of Farmworkers (now Justice at Work). Based in Pittsburgh, Caitlin established and managed FOF’s Western Pennsylvania office, providing free employment and immigration assistance in English and Spanish to low-wage workers throughout Western Pennsylvania. While in law school, Caitlin represented youth in delinquency proceedings and school suspension hearings in the District of Columbia; conducted trial preparation alongside public defenders in Rochester, New York; and prepared legal briefs and research on unlawful detention and municipal law at the ACLU-PA in Pittsburgh.

Originally from a suburb of Rochester, New York, Caitlin is the daughter of a second grade teacher and a middle school guidance counselor. She received a degree in political science, a certificate in leadership, and completed the pre-medicine requirements at the University of Pittsburgh. Caitlin has a Juris Doctor from the Georgetown University Law Center, where she published A Time for Change? The Uncertain Future of the D.C. Federal City Shelter in the Georgetown Journal on Poverty Law and Policy, and is licensed to practice law in Pennsylvania and Washington, DC.

ABIGAIL HORN

Deputy Director | Office of Community Service
Allegheny County Department of Human Services, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Abigail Horn is Deputy Director for the Office of Community Services (OCS) in the Allegheny County Department of Human Services (DHS). OCS is the County’s public office responsible for providing Allegheny County residents with a coordinated, community-focused system of high-quality and cost-effective services, programs and opportunities that enable low-income and vulnerable individuals and families to become more self-sufficient. It is committed to providing human services that empower people, strengthen families, and work to build a healthy, connected community. Through more than 100 community-based agencies and direct services, OCS offers supports, rooted in solid data and best practices, that help prevent crises, stabilize households and create opportunities to thrive.

Prior to her appointment as Deputy Director, Horn was a Senior Advisor for DHS. She led the county’s Bureau of Homeless Services and a “research to practice” unit in the Office of Data, Analysis, Research and Evaluation. She brought data-informed decision-making to drive policy change and performance improvements within the region’s homeless system and other program areas serving vulnerable populations.

Her previous work experience includes grant making for The Pew Charitable Trusts, running an economic development research center for Cleveland State University, and supporting democratic reforms in Latin America for the US Agency for International Development (USAID).

Horn is on the Board of Trustees of the Education Law Center of PA and Neighborhood Allies. She graduated from Yale University, has a Master’s Degree in Economic and Political Development from Columbia University’s School of International and Public Affairs, and was a Fulbright Scholar in Chile.
DEBORAH W. LINHART

CEO | Bethlehem Haven, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Deborah (Debbi) Linhart is the CEO of Bethlehem Haven, Pittsburgh's oldest women's shelter, providing over 13,500 consecutive nights of emergency housing. In addition, it provides facility-based and community-based permanent supportive housing, meals, housing location, employment support, and other supportive services. Bethlehem Haven became part of the Pittsburgh Mercy Family of Care in 2016. In June of last year, Bethlehem Haven opened a 29-bed Medical Respite program in partnership with Pittsburgh Mercy, AHN, UPMC and UPMC Health Plan. This innovative Medical Respite Program, only the second one in Pennsylvania, works with homeless or near homeless persons who are too ill or frail to recover from physical illness or injury on the street, but are not ill enough to be in a hospital. Bethlehem Haven is now planning of deeply subsidized affordable housing project for the formally homeless or disabled. Today Bethlehem Haven is working to convert property in the 1400 block of Fifth Avenue to affordable housing for our area's most vulnerable population living at 30% below poverty level. Expected completion date is 2021.

Debbi has previously worked as Vice President, Women's Health Initiatives in the Allegheny Health Network; President of Linhart Management Group, a management consulting firm focused on the non-profit sector; President and CEO of Magee-Womens Research Institute and Foundation; Vice President of Ambulatory Care and Strategic Development; and Chief Administrative Officer (and other roles) at Forbes Health System.

Debbi's contributions have been recognized. She has been awarded the Outstanding Champion Award, at the Prematurity Summit, March of Dimes (2006); the Women of Achievement Award (2014); and the Pittsburgh Business Times Healthcare Heroes Award (2015). Debbi earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in economics with a minor in psychology, and a Master of Health Administration (MHA) degree at Duke University in Durham, N.C., where she later served as lecturer at the Health Administration Graduate Program. She was also a clinical assistant professor at the University of Pittsburgh, Graduate School of Public Health. Currently, Debbi serves on the United Way Women's Leadership Council and 2-1-1 Management Council. She was a previous board member of Susan G. Komen Pittsburgh, chairperson of the Pittsburgh March of Dimes and a past member of the FISA Foundation Board of Directors and the Pittsburgh Civic Light Opera (CLO) Board of Directors.

JOHN LOVELACE

President | UPMC for You
President of Government Programs and UPMC Individual Advantage
Chief Program Office, Community Care Behavioral Health Organization, Pittsburgh, Pa.

John Lovelace holds several positions within the UPMC Insurance Services Division, through which he oversees the government health program lines of business with UPMC. This includes the managed Medicaid programs, managed long-term services and supports, Children's Health Insurance Program, Medicare and Medicare Special Needs Programs, individual medically underwritten coverage and the operations of federally facilitated marketplace operations. He has been associated with UPMC insurance services for more than twenty years.

John serves on a variety of local, regional and national boards, including the Association for Community Affiliated Plans, where he serves as Board Chair; Medicaid Health Plans of America; and the National Managed Long-Term Services and Supports Health Plan Association.

He speaks nationally on key issues affecting publicly financed health care programs, with emphasis on people with disabilities and social determinants of health. Locally, his advocacy efforts are focused on serving persons with disabilities, services for women and children, and behavioral health.

Mr. Lovelace holds graduate degrees in Rehabilitation Counseling from the State University of New York at Buffalo, as well as in Information Services from the University of Pittsburgh.
James S. Withers, MD, FACP

Founder & Medical Director

Pittsburgh Mercy’s Operation Safety Net®

Pittsburgh, Pa.

2019 Eileen Zungolo Spirit of Service Award

James S. Withers, MD, FACP is founder and medical director of Pittsburgh Mercy’s Operation Safety Net®, an award-winning, innovative medical and social service outreach program to people who are experiencing chronic homelessness.

Dr. Withers was raised in rural Pennsylvania, where he made house calls with his late father, Dr. Donald Withers, a family physician, and delivered meals alongside his mother, June, a retired registered nurse.

Dr. Withers earned his undergraduate degree at Haverford College and his medical degree at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine in 1984. His interest in service-oriented medicine grew through medical mission trips with his family to Central America and India.

After completing his medicine and chief residencies at The Mercy Hospital of Pittsburgh, he joined the hospital’s full-time teaching faculty in the Department of Internal Medicine. His areas of special interest include integrated health care for people experiencing homelessness, street medicine, domestic violence and wilderness medicine.

In 1992, with help from a Pittsburgh Mercy Care for the Poor Fund grant, Dr. Withers founded Pittsburgh Mercy’s Operation Safety Net®, the first full-time, comprehensive medical outreach service of its kind for people who are unsheltered and experiencing homelessness. As part of Pittsburgh Mercy, a member of Trinity Health serving in the tradition of the Sisters of Mercy, the program delivers integrated health care, case management, housing follow up, and other vital health and human services to individuals living on the streets of Pittsburgh. In the past 25 years, Pittsburgh Mercy’s Operation Safety Net has reached thousands of individuals. In 2017, they served more than 1,600 persons experiencing or at risk of homelessness and, in collaboration with the Allegheny Link and others, helped 579 persons to obtain safe housing.

Dr. Withers and Pittsburgh Mercy’s Operation Safety Net have been recognized internationally with numerous awards and honors for their work. Dr. Withers was named one of the 2015 Top 10 CNN Heroes. As an innovative model of care, the program is being replicated or studied throughout the world.

In 2005, Dr. Withers and Operation Safety Net established the International Street Medicine Symposium to foster international collaboration and share best practices in the care of people experiencing homelessness. In 2008, with help from Pittsburgh Mercy, Dr. Withers created the Street Medicine Institute to help other communities establish street medicine programs, improve existing practice, and create student learning opportunities in street medicine. Partners work in cities on six continents.

Dr. Withers enjoys numerous medical teaching appointments, volunteer activities and board memberships.

He resides in Forest Hills and is the father of four adult children: Christopher, Jonathan, Gregory, and Jeneni. He is most proud of his family and the many students who have gone on to careers in service-oriented medicine.

The Pittsburgh Foundation is proud to support the McGinley-Rice Symposium on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations. For more than 30 years, the Foundation has worked to eliminate homelessness and housing insecurity. Now, through our 100 Percent Pittsburgh organizing principle, we’re working to understand the impact of evictions in our community and address the systemic roots of homelessness, housing insecurity and intergenerational poverty.

Improving the health of a community, sometimes takes more than medicine.

We are proud to support the Duquesne University 10th Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations.

UPMC Health Plan

UPMC | MERCY
Helping the homeless connect to a community of support

Every day, homeless individuals face challenges in accessing basic needs. And when an entire family is homeless, these difficulties multiply. That’s why the Pittsburgh Child Guidance Foundation is proud to join with BigBurgh.com, a free mobile app that helps those experiencing homelessness — and community professionals — connect to more than 300 free services.

Assisting with the development of BigBurgh.com is just one way the Foundation is helping to support the emotional health and well-being of children and youth in Allegheny County. To learn more, visit PittsburghChildGuidanceFoundation.org.

Homelessness hides in plain sight

A MEMBER OF TRINITY HEALTH, SERVING IN THE TRADITION OF THE SISTERS OF MERCY
Every problem is worsened significantly for those who have nowhere to call home. We offer solutions to complex issues, but providing or identifying shelter is paramount to increasing both safety and stability. We can help.

At St. Joseph’s we provide:

- 60 room residential facility for men 50 year of age or older
- Single room occupancy
- Case management to help residents become self-sufficient
- Overcoming trauma services.
