Presentation by
David Dausey, Ph.D.

Dr. David J. Dausey began serving as provost and vice president for Academic Affairs on July 1, 2018. Prior to joining Duquesne, Dausey served as provost and executive vice president of Mercyhurst University in Erie, PA. He was also a distinguished professor of health policy and management at Carnegie Mellon University, where he served as senior director of health programs and initiatives.

In addition to authoring books, research papers and articles, Dausey is regularly consulted as a health expert by national and international news outlets including CNN, BBC, NPR, USA Today and the Washington Post.

A Pittsburgh native, Dausey grew up in Jefferson Hills, PA. He earned both his master’s degree and doctoral degree in epidemiology from Yale University. He completed post-graduate training in higher education administration at Harvard University.
