The Thirteenth Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations

The FACE of the Person Who is SOCIALLY ISOLATED

October 20-21, 2022
Duquesne University • Pittsburgh, PA
The McGinley-Rice Symposium

Established as a national forum on social justice for vulnerable populations, the McGinley-Rice Symposium is an integral part of Fall on the Bluff. The School of Nursing presents this symposium on health care issues, using the tradition of Catholic social thought as a unifying principle. Duquesne University is an ideal place for studying the intersection of social justice and health care. Founded in 1878 by the Congregation of the Holy Spirit, Duquesne’s legacy comes from the Spiritans, a Catholic missionary order that assists needy and marginalized persons throughout the world. The McGinley-Rice Symposia on Justice for Vulnerable Populations are endowed by the generous support of the Rita M. McGinley Foundation, John R. McGinley and the John R. McGinley, Jr., Esq. family. For more information about this and previous McGinley-Rice Symposia, visit duq.edu/social-justice.

McGinley-Rice 13: The Face of the Person Who is Socially Isolated

The COVID-19 pandemic strongly influenced the selection of a theme for McGinley-Rice 13, the Face of the Person who is Socially Isolated. Social isolation transcends loneliness. Because of age, illness, disability, or location many people are socially isolated. The pandemic raised awareness and intensified the negative consequences of being isolated from family and friends. This was especially true for children in poor families, elderly people in long-term care, and hospitalized adults with COVID-19.

Social isolation limits the physical and mental health of individuals across the age spectrum, especially affecting the elderly, adolescents, children and their families. Social isolation increases the risk of premature death, dementia and heart disease. It causes-or worsens-depression and anxiety, and can interfere with cognitive development. Social isolation is particularly destructive for poor children. Socially isolated children do not do well in school; many lack reading comprehension skills and do not communicate well with others.

The goal of the symposium is to raise awareness about the dangers of social isolation and provide resources, support and strategies to prevent or limit social isolation. In the post-pandemic world, prevention of social isolation remains a complex challenge.

Rita M. McGinley, Educator and Philanthropist (1918-2013)

Rita M. McGinley, a Pittsburgh native, was born and raised in the Mon Valley. A graduate of Carlow and Duquesne Universities, she spent her life as a teacher and guidance counselor in her hometown.

During her tenure, her alma mater, Braddock High School, became General Braddock High School and then Woodland Hills High School. These name changes were metaphors for what happened in Braddock during Rita McGinley’s lifetime. What distinguished Rita McGinley from many of her neighbors was that she did not leave town. She stood with the young people of Braddock as powerful people ignored the region’s shuttered mills, boarded-up storefronts and emerging social problems. She provided leadership, inspiration and funding for numerous charities, organizations and projects in her beloved community and in Southwestern Pennsylvania.

Her gentle influence is profound and long lasting. The endowment of the McGinley-Rice Symposia on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations at the Duquesne School of Nursing is a living testament to her encouragement of nurses, teachers, social workers, physicians and advocates in their work with underserved and forgotten people.
Msgr. Charles Owen Rice, Friend of the Poor

If you lived in Pittsburgh from the 1930s through the 1980s, you know the name Charles Owen Rice.

Msgr. Charles Owen Rice is remembered as a union advocate, the chairman of Pittsburgh’s Rent Control Board, a popular columnist for the Pittsburgh Catholic, and a familiar voice on radio stations KQV and WWSW.

He fought for justice in the Mon Valley, the Hill District and Natrona Heights. However, his passion transcended geography. He was as concerned about the spread of Communism in Europe as he was when Communist-affiliated labor leaders tried to take over the electricians’ union in the Mon Valley.

As pastor of Holy Rosary Church in Homewood, he witnessed the rioting, looting and burning that followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Confronted by outraged whites and black militants, he could do little to bring the opposing sides together. There was no middle ground.

A 1930 graduate of Duquesne University, Charles Owen Rice was compassionate, combative, intelligent, loyal and witty. His biographers struggle to describe his ability to walk on the edge of religious and secular canons. He was not a simple Catholic pastor.

Engaged for more than half a century in a spectrum of work on behalf of justice, he was a tactician whose words inspired others. Even those who disagreed with his positions or actions acknowledged the sincerity of his beliefs and the depth of his effort.

The Jacques Laval Endowed Chair for Justice for Vulnerable Populations

Rosemary Donley, S.C., PhD, APRN-BC, FAAN

Addressing social injustice is a key aspect of Duquesne University’s heritage and character. The commitment to helping those most in need is being advanced through the efforts of Sr. Rosemary Donley, holder of the Jacques Laval Endowed Chair for Justice for Vulnerable Populations.

In addition to teaching and conducting research related to health care access and quality for underserved persons and communities, Sr. Donley is the principal organizer of the McGinley-Rice Symposium.

The Laval Chair is endowed through a bequest from the estate of the late Thomas F. Bogovich, a 1953 Duquesne University School of Business graduate.

The Laval Chair is named for Jacques Laval, a 17th century missionary, physician and member of the Congregation of the Holy Spirit. He worked among freed slaves on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius, where he was able to restore a sense of dignity to people who had been freed but not liberated.

This first endowed chair in the School of Nursing calls attention to the faculty’s identification with Duquesne’s Spiritan mission and the social justice tradition of the Catholic Church.

The Fourteenth Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium: The Face of the Person Who Is Incarcerated

October 26-27, 2023
Keynote Speakers

DEBRA L. BOGEN, MD
Director | Allegheny County Health Department, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Prior to her appointment as Director of the Allegheny County Health Department, Dr. Bogen held a primary academic appointment as Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Pittsburgh, and secondary appointments in psychiatry and clinical and translational science. For the past three years, she served as the Vice Chair of Education for the Department of Pediatrics at UPMC Children’s Hospital of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Bogen earned her medical degree from the University of Colorado School of Medicine and completed both her pediatric residency and General Academic Pediatrics fellowship at Johns Hopkins Hospital. She is one of the founders of the Mid-Atlantic Mothers’ Milk Bank and serves as its Volunteer Medical Director.

ERIN DALTON
Director | Allegheny County Department of Human Services, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Erin Dalton is the Director of the Allegheny County Department of Human Services (DHS) which works to strengthen families and communities through a network of social services, care and support. DHS serves over 200,000 people each year through its community-based programs that prevent harm and address needs for family support and child development, developmental supports, senior services, housing, and protection from maltreatment.

Her years of experience in leading systems’ improvements earned her a reputation for expertise in child protection, housing, and criminal justice systems. Ms. Dalton earned a Master of Science in Public Policy and Management from Carnegie Mellon University’s Heinz College. She is an alumna of the Coro Center - Civic Leadership program.

MARIA E. GUYETTE, MD, MPPM, FACEP
Senior Medical Director | UPMC Community Health Choices, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Maria Koenig Guyette, MD, MPPM is an Emergency Physician caring for patients at UPMC Shadyside Emergency Department, and a Senior Medical Director for the UPMC Health Plan caring for Community Health Choices participants. She is an Associate Professor at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. She teaches residents and medical students about health policy, advocacy, equity and health systems. Dr. Guyette received her MPPM in Public Policy from The University of Pittsburgh and her medical degree from Albany Medical College.
FR. MATTHEW HAWKINS
Parochial Vicar | Diocese of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Fr. Matthew Hawkins has been defying dehumanizing boxes of inflexible racial identity his entire life. Born into a professional working-class African American family in 1957, his father was an African Methodist Episcopal (A.M.E.) minister and his maternal grandfather was a Baptist preacher. He crisscrossed many cultural boundaries when he attended a Catholic elementary school, a Quaker high school, and a Jewish summer camp.

As a young adult, he entered full communion with the Catholic Church and was eventually ordained into the priesthood. He holds a Master of Divinity degree from St. Mary’s Seminary and University in Baltimore, a Master’s degree in Social Work from the University of Pittsburgh and a Master’s degree in History from Carnegie-Mellon University.

Fr. Hawkins is the parochial vicar of St. Mary Magdelene parish in the East End of Pittsburgh and St. Benedict the Moor in the Hill District. He is chaplain at Oakland Catholic High School, where he also teaches. In 2023, he will teach a theology course on Race, Racism, and Catholic Social Thought at St. Vincent College in Latrobe. He is a consultant with the Sister Thea Bowman Black Catholic Education Foundation addressing how Catholic theology speaks to African American communities. He regularly visits middle schoolers at St. Benedict the Moor and St. Bede Schools, engaging students in lively discussions on faith and life. His dramatized scriptural Rosary is broadcast nightly at 7:00 EST on 102.1 FM in Pittsburgh.

JUSTIN SCHREIBER, DO, MPH
Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and Pediatrics | School of Medicine, University of Pittsburgh Director, Whole Child Wellness Clinic | UPMC Children’s Hospital, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Justin Schreiber DO, MPH, FAAP received his Bachelor’s degree in Science from the University of California, Los Angeles and went on to receive his Masters in Public Health, focused on health policy and administration at Boston University. He received his Doctor of Osteopathic medicine at Touro University Nevada, College of Osteopathic Medicine and did his residency and fellowship in pediatrics, general psychiatry and child and adolescent psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh. During this time he focused on projects addressing childhood obesity, collaborative care with pediatricians and child psychiatrists, addressing the psychiatric needs of children with chronic medical conditions and physician wellness.

Currently Dr. Schreiber is an Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and Pediatrics at UPMC Western Psychiatric Institute and Clinic and UPMC Children’s Hospital of Pittsburgh. He works as a pediatrician with the General Academic Pediatrics group and as the medical director for outpatient behavioral health services. He is the medical director, along with serving as a pediatrician and child psychiatrist for the Whole Child Wellness Clinic. He is also medical director for the SKIP for PA integrated behavioral health care and implementation study. He serves as the course director for the pediatric resident mental health elective and psychiatry resident community psychiatry and child advocacy courses.
Richard Garland was born and raised in Philadelphia and got involved with gangs when he was a teenager. He spent 23 years in the prison system, primarily from 1971 until 1991. He is a supporter of the MOVE Organization, and credits much of his ability and willingness to change to MOVE.

As a returning citizen, he completed his Master of Social Work in 1996, specializing in Community Organization. He is now an Associate Professor at the University of Pittsburgh Graduate School of Public Health, where he works with communities across Allegheny County to create outreach infrastructures aimed at reducing crime and violence. At Pitt, he is also the Director of the Violence Prevention Initiative, where he oversees outreach work, provides gun violence training and education, and conducts the Gunshot Recurring Injury Prevention Services (G.R.I.P.S.) project to provide support to gunshot wound victims.

Richard is now the Executive Director of Reimagine Reentry, a nonprofit that provides trauma-informed, wrap-around services for returning citizens in Allegheny County. The many men and women he left behind are largely responsible for his transformation and they helped him realize that returning citizens with a plan can change the world! The success he has had is due to the teachers and mentors he had while incarcerated. Reimagine Reentry is not only a tribute to them, but a product of the direction given to him, by them, to change for the better.

He hopes that Reimagine Reentry can serve as a beacon of hope for those who have experienced or have been affected by incarceration. “If you believe it, you can achieve it.”

Together.

The Pittsburgh Foundation is proud to support the McGinley-Rice Symposium on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations: the Face of the Person Who is Socially Isolated. We remain committed to working in partnership with our donors and regional nonprofits to make sure that basic needs — such as food, safe and affordable housing, physical and mental health care, child care and employment — are accessible to all and are considered in the context of equity and racial justice.
