The Eighth Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium

Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations:
The Face of the Person with an Addiction

The theme of the eighth annual McGinley-Rice Symposium is The Face of the Person with an Addiction. Myths about addiction and the stigma associated with addiction encourage people to ignore or minimize a major public health epidemic. Addiction is not a personal moral failure; it is a disease of the brain that does not respect age, race, socio-economic status or gender. Like most chronic illnesses, addiction affects the whole person: body, mind and spirit. Addiction is treatable. However, like other chronic diseases, the person with an addiction experiences ebbs and flows. Addiction alters brain chemistry and affects judgment and decision making. Persons with addiction are obsessed with their desire for drugs. Forty to sixty percent of persons with addiction fail to follow their treatment plans. Lapses are usually associated with drug use, an experience that can be fatal. The eighth annual McGinley-Rice Symposium confronts the ignorance, bias and discrimination that surround addiction. It asks each of us to reach out and look into the face of a person with an addiction.

The McGinley-Rice Symposium

The annual McGinley-Rice Symposium, sponsored by the Duquesne University School of Nursing, provides a national forum where scholars, researchers, policy makers and health care professionals can share ideas for alleviating disparities in health, wellness and access to health care services. The School of Nursing hosts this national forum on health care issues, using the tradition of Catholic social thought as a unifying principle.

Duquesne University is an ideal place for a symposium on social justice and health care. Duquesne was founded in 1878 by the Congregation of the Holy Spirit, the Spiritans, a Catholic missionary order that assists needy and marginalized persons throughout the world. The McGinley-Rice Symposia on Justice for Vulnerable Populations are endowed by the generous support of the Rita M. McGinley Foundation, John R. McGinley, and the John R. McGinley, Jr., Esq., Family. For more information about this and previous McGinley-Rice Symposia, visit duq.edu/social-justice.

Rita M. McGinley, Educator and Philanthropist (1918-2013)

Rita M. McGinley, a Pittsburgh native, was born and raised in the Mon Valley. A graduate of Carlow and Duquesne Universities, she spent her life as a teacher and guidance counselor in her home town.

During her tenure, her alma mater, Braddock High School, became General Braddock High School and then Woodland Hills High School. These name changes were metaphors for what happened in Braddock during Rita McGinley's life time. What distinguished Rita McGinley from many of her neighbors was that she did not leave town. She stood with the young people of Braddock as powerful people ignored the region's shuttered mills, boarded-up store fronts and emerging social problems. She provided leadership, inspiration and funding for numerous charities, organizations and projects in her beloved community and in southwestern Pennsylvania.

Her gentle influence is profound and long-lasting. The endowment of the McGinley-Rice Symposia on Social Justice for Vulnerable Populations at the Duquesne School of Nursing is a living testament to her encouragement of nurses, teachers, social workers, physicians and advocates in their work with underserved and forgotten people.
The Jacques Laval Endowed Chair for Justice for Vulnerable Populations

Rosemary Donley, S.C., PhD, APRN-BC, FAAN

Addressing social injustice is a key aspect of Duquesne University's heritage and character, and our commitment to helping those most in need is being advanced through the efforts of Sr. Rosemary Donley, holder of the Jacques Laval Endowed Chair for Justice for Vulnerable Populations.

In addition to teaching and conducting research related to health care access and quality for underserved persons and communities, Sr. Donley is the principal organizer of the McGinley-Rice Symposium.

The Laval Chair is endowed through a bequest from the estate of the late Thomas F. Bogovich, a 1953 Duquesne University School of Business graduate.

The Laval Chair is named for Jacques Laval, a 17th century missionary, physician and member of the Congregation of the Holy Spirit, the Catholic order that founded Duquesne University. He worked among freed slaves on the Indian Ocean island of Mauritius, where he was able to restore a sense of dignity to people who had been freed but not liberated.

This first endowed chair in the School of Nursing calls attention to the faculty's identification with Duquesne's mission and the social justice tradition of the Catholic Church.

The Ninth Annual McGinley-Rice Symposium: The Face of the Person who has been Trafficked.

October 2018
PEGGY COMPTON, PHD, RN, FAAN

Associate Professor
van Ameringen Endowed Chair
Department of Family and Community Health
University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing, Philadelphia, Pa.

Dr. Compton is an Associate Professor in the Department of Family and Community Health at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing and a Fellow of the American Academy of Nursing. Her area of clinical expertise includes opioids, addiction and pain. She has published extensively in the scientific literature on substance use disorders in persons with chronic pain treated with opioid therapy and the pain responses of opioid addicts with and without chronic pain. Having worked in several public treatment settings, she is an expert on the use of methadone, buprenorphine and naltrexone to treat opioid use disorders.

Dr. Compton has served on FDA, SAMHSA and NIH expert panels on prescription opioid abuse, and contributed to position statements from the American Pain Society, College on Problems of Drug Dependence, and the American Society of Pain Management Nursing on managing pain for persons with addictive disease. She currently serves as principal investigator on an NIDA-supported grant exploring hyperalgesic responses in individuals undergoing opioid taper.

MARY FLEMING, MS

Associate Administrator for Women's Services
Chief of Staff, Office of Assistant Secretary for Mental Health and Substance Use Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, Rockville, Md.

Mary Fleming currently is the Chief of Staff in the Office of Assistant Secretary for Mental Health and Substance Abuse Services (SAMHSA). She also serves as SAMHSA's Associate Administrator for Women's Services. As Chief of Staff, she reviews recommendations for actions on official matters to be brought to the Assistant Secretary and acts as principal policy advisor to the Assistant Secretary. She also supervises all Center and Office Directors at the Executive Level and administrative support staff in the Office of the Assistant Secretary. She participates with the Assistant Secretary in monitoring policy development and policy implementation and ensures the Assistant Secretary’s decisions are known and implemented throughout the Agency. She also represents the Assistant Secretary in activities involving other agency departments and programs, the White House, the Office of Management and Budget and the Congress.

As Associate Administrator for Women’s Services, she chairs the Advisory Committee on Women’s Services, sits on the Department of Health and Human Services’ Coordinating Committee for Women’s Health and chairs SAMHSA internal workgroup on Women’s Services.

Prior to coming to SAMHSA, Ms. Fleming served for 13 years as the CEO of Allegheny Health Choices, Inc. (AHCI) in Pittsburgh. AHCI is responsible for providing oversight and monitoring of Medicaid behavioral health programs in several counties and provides assistance to counties and providers in implementing best practices and using data to drive their decision making.
KAREN HACKER, MD, MPH

Director
Allegheny County Health Department, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Since 2013, Dr. Karen Hacker has served as Director of the Allegheny County Health Department. As Director, Dr. Hacker is the highest ranking official in the Health Department and is responsible for overseeing its programs and activities. She also serves as Secretary to the Allegheny County Board of Health.

Dr. Hacker is an Adjunct Professor in the Departments of Health Policy and Management and Behavioral and Community Health Sciences at the University of Pittsburgh Graduate School of Public Health and a Clinical Professor at the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine. Prior to her current position, Dr. Hacker was Executive Director of the Institute for Community Health and the Senior Medical Director for Public and Community Health at the Cambridge Health Alliance with five appointments at Harvard Medical School and School of Public Health.

Dr. Hacker received her undergraduate degree from Yale University, her MD from Northwestern University, and her MPH from Boston University. She completed her residency in Internal Medicine at Boston City Hospital and her Adolescent Medicine Fellowship at Children’s Hospital of Los Angeles. She has extensive experience working with diverse populations as a public health leader, health care administrator, primary care physician and community-based participatory researcher.

Throughout her career, Dr. Hacker has worked with community partners to catalyze change in practice and research. Her research has focused on adolescent risk and resiliency, child mental health, social determinants of immigrant health and health policy. She has led efforts to incorporate behavioral health screening into pediatric primary care and worked with communities on issues of substance abuse, overdose prevention and youth suicide.

ANDREW J. MCKENNA, JD

Author of “Sheer Madness: From Federal Prosecutor to Federal Prisoner”
West Sand Lake, NY

Mr. Andrew McKenna travels the country speaking to professional organizations, colleges and universities, high schools, and drug courts about the perils of prescription and non-prescription drug use and abuse, particularly opiates, including heroin. He discusses the dangers of untreated depression and anxiety and the necessity for people going through difficult times in their lives to reach out and ask for help. Having served five years in the Federal Bureau of Prisons (FBOP), Mr. McKenna consults with attorneys and their clients regarding the FBOP process; how to assimilate best into the prison system; navigating the complex and dangerous prison culture; and best practices for doing time, being productive, and staying safe while experiencing the most daunting reality of their client’s lives. Mr. McKenna’s story speaks to redemption and hope. He has traveled a difficult road from Airman, U.S. Marine Corps Captain, and JAG attorney to Justice Department Prosecutor to opiate then heroin addict to bank robber. His descent and eventual rise is the theme of his memoir Sheer Madness: From Federal Prosecutor to Federal Prisoner. His brutal honesty and candor is an inspiration to those struggling with life’s myriad challenges.
Rosa Davis is the 2017 recipient of the Eileen Zungolo Spirit of Service Award. As the Executive Director of POWER, she works each day to help women reclaim their lives from the disease of addiction and to reduce the incidence of addiction in future generations. Under her leadership, POWER has grown from a single-program agency founded in 1990 to an organization that today offers a range of comprehensive gender-responsive, trauma-informed addiction treatment and recovery support services to women with substance use and co-occurring disorders and their families.

Rosa earned her Bachelor’s and Master’s degrees in Social Work from the University of Pittsburgh. Nationally certified by the Academy of Certified Social Workers, she has more than 30 years of diverse experience working with people in the public schools and in the juvenile justice and foster care systems. A graduate of Leadership Pittsburgh XVII, she is a member of the University of Pittsburgh’s School of Social Work Executive Council, the Coalition for Leadership, Education and Advocacy for Recovery’s (CLEAR) Steering Committee, the GPNP Public Policy Committee, and Allegheny County’s Block Grant Advisory Board. She is the past president of the Pennsylvania Halfway House Association and Soroptimist International of Pittsburgh. Rosa Davis has received numerous awards and honors for her dedication to empower women. She has been the recipient of the YWCA’s Tribute to Women’s Leadership and the Girl Scouts-Trillium Council’s Woman of Distinction awards, recognized with the Message Carriers’ Tree of Life, and honored by the Soroptimist International’s Women Helping Women. Oakland Catholic named her a Leading Lady.

In recognition of her tireless commitment to enhance the dignity and power of women, especially those who have faced addiction, the Dean, faculty and staff of the Duquesne University School of Nursing and the founders and participants of the McGinley-Rice Symposium are proud to recognize and honor Rosa Davis.

Spenser Flowers was a witty, kind-hearted young man who loved Harry Potter books, hats and Hawaiian shirts. At age 20, Spenser died of an accidental heroin overdose. To honor a life cut short by addiction, the Flowers family established two funds at The Pittsburgh Foundation that will last forever. The first provides scholarships to young people. The second, Spenser’s Voice, funds organizations working to help young people fight opioid addiction.

Where There’s A Need, There’s United Way

United Way addresses our community’s most critical issues. When you support United Way, you can be confident you are supporting the highest performing agencies, held accountable to deliver measurable results for those in need.

Last year, because of the generosity of United Way donors, we were able to help more than 300,000 people in need in our community.

If you or someone you know needs help, call 2-1-1, text your zip code to 898-211 or chat with a Resource Navigator at pa211sw.org.
Providing HOPE and HEALING

Ours is a hurting world. Economic and job uncertainty, as well as changes in cultural and family dynamics have more people seeking help for depression, anxiety, and conflict.

Catholic Charities helps individuals and families on the road to recovery, filling them with the hope to move forward.

- individual, couples, and family counseling
- anger management
- gambling addiction counseling
- overcoming trauma
